Police protection cost boost rankles Stewart

BY JIM BRADLEY
Roman Staff Writer

The city of Romulus and the Wayne County Board of Auditors are having a difference of opinion on how much Romulus owes for the protection it receives from the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

And the difference is not a little one. The city doesn't deal directly with the sheriff's department in the matter of living up to its contract, but must go through the Board of Auditors.

City officials feel that they are being charged more than their present contract calls for. In fact, the city recently was notified by the Board of Auditors that it owes $202,640 more than the contract calls for. This additional amount is lumped together under the heading of "administrative fees."

Mayor James Stewart and other city officials do not feel the cost is justified without receiving an explanation.

"They're wanting $50,000 per car for each of our four units (cars)," Stewart said, "and we don't feel its justified."

City officials also contend the county has not billed the city regularly as the contract spells out. "Then they hit us with this excess amount of more than $200,000," Stewart said.

To compound matters, Stewart claims part of the expense should have been paid during the previous city administration.

Stewart has sent a letter to the Board of Auditors outlining the city's position and asking for an explanation for the increase in the cost of the contract for police protection.

The original contract was signed Aug. 10, 1971, and twice since that time the sheriff's staff and city officials have met, attempting to reach agreement on increases in the contract.

Stewart feels some of the "administrative costs" already have been paid in the regular contract.

In a letter to the Board of auditors, Stewart said: "This charge of administration cost of $202,640 per year will not be paid without a detailed invoice of where the money was disbursed, as our contract states that it is a reimbursable contract."

"Particularly since all the items listed below are already reimbursed: salaries, court time, overtime, holiday time, shift differential, fringe benefits, uniform allowance, automobile cost and workmen's compensation."

The city has sent a check for $471,368 for what they claim is full payment.

How sweet it is

acre site on Harrison Road, covers more than 31,000 square feet. Romulus has seen more than $10 million worth of construction during the first 10 months of this year and hopes by Dec. 31 to hit a total of $12 million, the city's total assessed valuation in 1955.

$1 million facility boosts construction

New freight terminal dedicated

Romulus is fast becoming THE place for industrial growth, according to the city's industrial coordinator, Hyle Carmichael.

More evidence in support of that claim came last Saturday afternoon as Express Freight Lines, 9700 Harrison Road, held an open house for their new million-dollar facility.

Romulus Mayor James Stewart joined company president Harold Rabbidoux and vice-president Tom Moore in ribbon-cutting ceremonies attended by several other local dignitaries.

Built on a 12-acre site, the building consists of an 18,000-square-foot freight terminal, a 3,700 square foot office and 10,000 square foot garage.

"It is one of the finest complexes in Romulus and cost in excess of $1 million," pointed out Ed Fall, head of the building department. "The building was started last March and was finished Oct. 29."

Carmichael was especially pleased at the opening of the new facility and expressed confidence in the future of Romulus.

"Companies are contacting us every few days about big building projects for the city," he said. "Many from out of town see the tremendous facilities available here - the airport, two expressways, two railroads - and are making inquiries almost daily."

Carmichael said the city hopes to hit $12 million in construction 1976, and it has a good chance since the report through October shows $10,185,048 worth of construction an average of more than a million a month.

Attending the ceremony were Councilwoman Beverly McAnally, Council President Gerry Canejo and City Assessor Dave Krause, in addition to many representatives of companies who deal with Express Freight Lines.

Stewart recalled that when he came to the city in 1955 Romulus' entire assessed valuation was $12 million. Now the city is matching that amount in one year.

Carter, Riegle sweep Romulus balloting

Approximately 57 percent of Romulus voters turned out last week, 7,961 of about 14,000 and gave Democrat Jimmy Carter almost a 2-to-1 ratio over Republican Gerald Ford in the Presidential election. Carter collected 4,834 votes to Ford's 2,843.

In the race for U.S. Senator, Don Riegle (D) whipped Marvin Esch (R) by a count of 5,076 to 2,230.

Long-time Congressman William Ford (D) defeated James Walaskay, (R), 5,429 to 1,307 to keep his seat in Washington.

State Representatives Edward Mahalak (D-38th) and Gary Owen (D-22nd) retained their seats easily as Mahalak defeated challenger Edgar Nieten (R), 4,642 to 1,364 and Owen bested Robert Baldwin (R), by 495 to 159.

In the 26th District, Edgar Harris (D) earned another term as County Commissioner with a 4,593 to 1,839 victory margin over Republican challenger Dorothy M. Rush.

Voters also decided the four state ballot proposals along the same lines as the rest of the state narrowly approving the ban on non-returnable bottles, 3,725 to 3,528, and rejecting propositions that would have lowered the age required to run for office, 5,348 to 1,557; placed a limit on state spending, 4,379 to 2,567, and provided for a graduated income tax, 4,321 to 2,457.

Romulus' finest

Newly formed police reserve unit takes to the streets

By JIM BRADLEY
Roman Staff Writer

What group includes a doctor, a lawyer, several businessmen, an airplane pilot, a morgue technician, a husband and wife team and four women who are learning karate?

They are members of the newly formed Wayne County Sheriff — Romulus Police Reserve unit which recently graduated 21 volunteer trainees.

The Romulus reserves — 17 men and four women — have passed a rigorous 66 hours of training, including 30 hours of firearms training, 10 hours of first-aid, 12 hours of legal expertise and 14 hours in traffic and crowd control, and arrest and search.

"These are completely volunteer police officers," explained Jerry Kubiak, Romulus' director of public safety. "They are dedicated to the task of training themselves thoroughly to help the regular Wayne County Sheriff's Patrol." Burt Girardin is the Reserve Police Chief.

"The need for more police was discussed two years ago but cost was a hindrance. "So the Sheriff's Department set up a training program for the volunteer reserves which could free its regular patrol for more important duties."

The 21 reservists will complement the force of Wayne County officers assigned to Romulus.

"This will really benefit the city of Romulus," Kubiak continued. "The class graduated Sept. 17 and they already have been active all over the city — helping with the swine flu shots, traffic control, Romulus High School Homecoming Parade, Halloween night patrol duty and several other activities."

More than 100 applicants applied for the training class but only 20 graduated. Qualifications for graduation were stringent, with 90 percent attendance required at the three hour, three day a week classes.

In addition, they had to achieve 70 percent marksmanship on the firing range, as well as 70 percent in first aid training and on their final test.

One of the more interesting features of the reserve unit is the husband and wife team of Leo and Yvonne Randall, who have lived in Romulus eight years.

"I thought I could do something to relieve the regular sheriff's patrolmen so they could spend more time on the streets," says 29-year-old Yvonne, mother of two girls.

"I have a lot more respect for all the work that is involved since I've taken this extensive training," she said. "If I help make it safer for our girls and others, it'll all be worthwhile."

Yvonne, who stands 5-feet-2, says: "I may be small in stature, but I'm a big person inside," referring to her willingness and desire to help.

Yvonne came by her desire for police work naturally. Her brother, Wayne, is a court bailiff in Garden City; her brother-in-law, Vince, is a reserve police officer in Dearborn and her husband's nephew is a police officer in Inkster.

Leo, 32, became concerned when vandals were hitting his subdivision.

"A group of us met approximately two years ago at city hall when vandalism was high in our area and I wanted to do anything I could to make Romulus safer," he said.

Julie Nordstrom, 29, another of the quartet of women volunteer reserves, has been interested in police work for the past 10 years and hopes to make a career of the job.

"I've loved police work for as long as I can remember but when I first volunteered for this work, my mother was a little leery," Julie says. "She's still not completely at ease, but she's a lot better about it now."

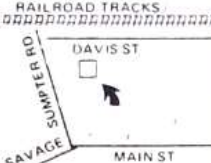

Reserves ready to roll

A follow-up local bazaar will be held at the Romulus Senior Citizens Drop-in Center, 36515 Bibbins, on Nov. 22. All proceeds will financially support Senior Citizens Club No. 1 projects for the coming year.

"This is one of our big events of the year, and we hope there will be a large turnout to help our wonderful senior citizens," said Joan Haubrich, co ordinator of the Romulus senior citizens program.

And the senior citizens schedule offers something different each day of the week.

On Mondays, a bowling league will meet at the Romulus Recreation Center Bowling Alley at Five Points from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. while billiards, cards and other activities will take place from 1 to 3 p.m. at the Drop-in Center.

On Tuesdays, Senior Citizens Club No. 1 will meet at the VFW Hall on Huron River Drive from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Luncheon features soup, crackers, donuts and coffee. Each fourth Tuesday of the month there will be a pot-luck lunch in which everyone is invited to bring either a dish or a dollar. Those bringing a dish are eligible for a drawing.

On the first and third Wednesday of each month, senior citizens will have a chance to travel from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. The van will leave the Drop-in Center and take riders on shopping trips, to lunch or to a show at a nearby shopping center.

On Thursdays, the Drop-in Center will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. for cards, billiards, reading and crafts work. Free coffee always is available.

On Fridays, Joan Haubrich and Wilma Pomroy will host an open house at the Drop-in Center at 36515 Bibbins from 10 a.m. until 3:30 p.m.

A light luncheon and crafts instruction will be available as well as billiards, cards, TV and reading. A sewing class soon will be added.

A field trip also is planned and announced once a month. The Drop-in Center is open from 8:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, and a Christmas Party and gift exchange is planned for it on Dec. 17.

Officials investigate hardware store fire

Fire Department officials and insurance investigators still are delving into the origin of Sunday afternoon's fire that did extensive damage to Syer and Sons Hardware, 19162 Huron River Drive, New Boston.

According to Huron Township Fire Chief Frank Marvaso, the fire broke out shortly after the store's 3 p.m. closing time.

"We're still trying to determine the cause of the fire," Marvaso said. "All three of our fire department units responded to the fire, and Romulus and Brownstown Fire departments were on standby duty in case another fire started in our township while we were battling the blaze."

Marvaso said most of the damage done to the 40-by-60 foot building was the back work room which was gutted and extensive smoke which filled the area between the false ceiling and the roof.

"The roof still is intact, but in the upper portion of the building there are two false ceilings and the extensive amount of smoke in between the ceilings made it difficult to know how big the fire really was," he added.

Since the fire was called in at 3:22 p.m., less than a half hour after closing time, officials are not discounting the possibility of arson.

Club hosts Jr. banquet

The Romulus Athletic Club will hold its junior football banquet and dance this Saturday evening at 5 p.m. at the Romulus Progressive Club, Ozga Road at Goddard.

County passes budget; Will hold line on costs

A budget intended to hold the line against escalating costs, but still allowing for expenditures of up to $1 million a day for the next fiscal year has been adopted by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

In a meeting held late last week, the board approved a budget totaling $365,882,935 for the 1976-77 fiscal year, beginning Dec. 1.

The amount approved is $1.1 million more than recommended by the Board of Auditors, but is $50 million less than the more than $400 million requested by the county's various departments and agencies.

Since September, the commissioners, meeting as the Ways and Means Committee, have debated and revised the department requests and auditors' recommendations.

The new budget absorbs a deficit of $8.2 million carried over from the current fiscal year. Most of the deficit will be recovered through a $7.7 million mandatory savings requirement imposed by the board.

Under the mandatory savings program and according to the Ways and Means budget report, a savings of about 7 percent of the $100 million annual payroll will be achieved and will prevent potential layoffs of employees.

The mandatory savings program requires a moratorium on hiring and would enable the savings to accrue from attritions through employee retirements or changes to jobs outside the county.

Other savings also are expected because this year's budget does not include proposals for any new programs and quarterly reviews of department operations will be more closely scrutinized, said county Board Chairman John Barr.

"In all of the functions ahead of us, we expect more effectiveness in use of both personnel and equipment, and a better effort in general management practices," Barr said.

Some units of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department suffered cutbacks in order to save money, including the township road patrols, the helicopter patrol, the metropolitan narcotics squad and airport security patrol and the community relations division. Each unit, except the narcotics squad, is funded through July 30 only. The narcotics squad has been reduced by 14 officers.

In their budget recommendation, the auditors pointed out that both the Wayne County Circuit Court and Michigan Court of Appeals ruled that the county has the authority to curtail or end road patrol services, although the townships involved have appealed to the State Supreme Court.

The auditors also recommended that the helicopter patrol be eliminated July 1 when a labor contract, which forced the reinstatement of the patrol recently, expires.

The helicopters were eliminated from this year's budget as a low priority item, but were restored by a labor arbitration ruling that the cut was precluded by contract with the deputies' union.

Although the new budget is $50 million less than asked for by the county's departments and agencies, it also represents an increase of around $33 million more than the amount appropriated for the current fiscal year, which ends Nov. 30. Besides increases in the costs of goods and services due to inflation, the increased budget primarily is due to court-ordered expansion of jail facilities and improvements at the Juvenile Court. The two projects will cost $7 million.

Ex-BHS bandsmen: 'Where are you?'

A call has been put out by the Belleville Band Booster of "Former Belleville bandsmen where are you?"

The organization is in the process of writing a history of the band program, which had its origin in 1926, and to mark the annual February Boosters' Cabaret in a golden way, there will be a special concert commemorating the 50 years of the band program. The boosters hope to get in touch with former bandsmen to have them present for the special musical presentation, since it will span the music scene from 1926 to the present.

The club also is interested in obtaining information available in the 1929 and 1948 Belleville High School yearbooks, as well as information, names and pictures of those who were in the band in 1930 through 1935, a period during which no yearbooks were printed because of the Depression.

Former bandsmen with information on the gaps in the history the band boosters are attempting to organize can contact the club at P.O. Box 98, Belleville 48111. Send your name, address and information about what instrument you played and what years you performed with the band.

Panax earnings show 'steady improvement'

EAST LANSING - Panax Corp. a Michigan based newspaper publishing and printing firm, has announced third quarter and nine a month net earnings figures for 1976.

Net earnings for the third quarter ending Sept. 30, were $115,845 or 10 cents a share compared to $96,425 or eight cents a share in the same period of 1975 an increase of $19,420.

Net earnings for the nine months ending Sept. 30, were $242,170 or 21 cents a share compared to $191,241 or 16 cents a share in the same period of 1975, an increase of $50,929.

President John P. McGoff said financial results for the nine months and third quarter are "highly satisfactory".

Commenting on the third quarter results, McGoff stated, "our steady improvement in operations for the first nine months of this year continues to be evidenced in the increasing profitability of the company. The only depressing effect has been the implementation of the Michigan Single Business Tax, which has cost our company approximately $57,000 in after tax earnings or five cents a share more than what we would have paid had we retained the Michigan corporate income tax."

A quarterly dividend of two cents a share also was announced by the Board of Directors of Panax Corp. The dividend will be paid on Nov. 24 to shareholders of record as of Nov. 11.

Panax publishes seven daily and 35 weekly newspapers and operates five commercial printing plants in MMichigan, Illinois, Florida, Georgia, and South Africa.

Houser speaks to council on pre-kindergarten plans

Pat Houser of the Wayne County Intermediate School District will be the special guest speaker at 7:30 p.m. Monday at a meeting of the Romulus Community Schools' Compensatory Education Parent Advisory Council at Cory Elementary School, 35200 Smith Road.

Child care centers and state guidelines for pre-kindergarten programs under Title VI will be the main topics covered.

According to Council Chairman Richard Campbell, four reports will be given by subcommittees covering finance and grants, communications, social services and volunteers services.

The advisory council, which is made up mainly of parents of underprivileged children and slow learners, is seeking more citizens to get involved in the group's efforts to secure financial help through federal and state grant programs.

"We are asking all people of Romulus who are interested in education to help us," Campbell said. "Interest was very high at last month's meeting and we hope these four subcommittee reports will produce some positive results to show us which direction to take in the future."

More information can be obtained by calling Campbell at 941-0218 or Marvin Fisher at Romulus Board of Education at 941-1600.

Swim registration opened by YWCA

Beginners and mother-tot lessons will begin at 4:45 p.m. with advanced beginners starting at 5:30 p.m.

Cost for the 10 days of instruction is $12 and parents will have to furnish transportation to Ramada Inn.

"We are particularly grateful for the cooperation of R.E. Conover, general manager of Ramada Inn, for the use of the pool during this time," said Mary Willoughby, area director.

Instructor for the lessons will be Carol Cuddy Mitchell, long-time water safety instructor for the YWCA.

Early Americans' writings displayed at Ford Museum

Although Presidents George Washington and John Adams escaped the probing eyes of the television analysts that confront Gerald Ford and Jimmy Carter, their innermost personal qualities can be understood through their letters and diaries that are part of a Bicentennial exhibit at Henry Ford Museum, according to Michigan graphologist Carl J. Belfiori.

From analyzing the stylistic strokes and pen pressures in a letter written by George Washington, for instance, Belfiori found that Washington was a loner who was generous, honest and loyal. A diplomatic man, Washington had the capacity to feel a situation before it developed, keeping him one step ahead of most people.

The second President of the United States, John Adams, was a warm and friendly man who protected himself by a careful choice of friends, his writing reveals. He was a man of action who took pride in his work. Sometimes he was stubborn and impulsive, however.

Patriot leader Sam Adams' handwriting clearly reflected his rebellious nature. John's second cousin could have been uncooperative and inconsiderate, Belfiori suggested, and "if he didn't like someone or if he disagreed with someone, he could have very easily punched them in the nose."

Women and the British did not escape Belfiori's scrutiny. By studying a letter from British widow Margaret Howard to a commission of Parliament in 1784, the graphologist surmised she kept a neat house and had artistic abilities. She could "blow her stack", if her standards were threatened.

Charles Cornwallis, the British general who surrendered at Yorktown, was found by Belfiori to be a go-getter and an effective leader, but one who would give in against his better judgment of avoid embarrassment. The Marquis de Lafayette's writing style earned him the title "The French Tornado," a whirlwind of action who found it hard to control his emotions.

Perhaps the most interesting analyses Belfiori provided are those of Benedict Arnold, a man who was both hero and traitor to the American struggle for independence, and "Mad" Anthony Wayne. Arnold was a deeply sensuous man who enjoyed physical pleasures, rich foods and deep colors. He was guided more by his emotions than by good judgment. The strongest tendency his writing shows is his inflexibility and refusal to admit mistakes. Wayne was not mad, but merely self-conscious, especially about his appearance.

Open to the public through January 2, 1977, "The Struggle and The Glory" traces the forging of the American nation from the French and Indian War through the ratification of the Constitution. It is based on previously unknown manuscripts, broadsides and letters from the Henry Ford Museum's Bicentennial Collection.

Handwriting is just one interesting aspect of the exhibit. The content of the documents gives a "you were there" feeling since the story is told in the words of participants. Objects ranging from Indian clothing and belongings to George Washington's personal camp equipment to room settings reflecting wealthy, middle class and poor colonial life styles enhance the involvement of the visitor.

The exhibit is divided into four sections — The French and Indian War, 1755-1763; Colonial Life, 1763 - 1775; the Revolutionary War, 1775-1781; and the Struggle for Nationhood, 1781 - 1789.

"The Struggle and The Glory" can be viewed at no additional charge beyond the regular Henry Ford Museum admission.

Institute hosts for old market

The sights, sounds and smells of an Old World Market will come to life at the International Institute of Metropolitan Detroit Inc. next week.

The institute will be hosting its annual Old World Market from Nov. 18 through Nov. 21 from 12 to 10 p.m. except Nov. 21 when it will close at 9 p.m.

To give the market a new touch, organizers have planned a new layout of booths and craft demonstrations, new kinds of food in new quarters and a continental cafe featuring wine, beer and light entertainment.

The foods of the world to be served during the market days will represent the cultures of Russia, Korea, Lithuania, Bulgaria, Vietnam, Israel, Italy and more.

New crafts joining the lineup include silhouette portraits, wire animals from Czechoslovakia, watch lace and embroidery, the making of puppets and the 18th century art of lithophone wax carving.

The Old World Market will be held in the institute, located at 111 E. Kirby at the corner of John R, just north of the Detroit Institute of Arts.

For further information on the market contact the institute at 871-9600.

High-risk patients ignoring flu shots

Despite the good turnout at the high risk Swine Flu clinics late last month, Wayne County Health Department officials have estimated that some 30,000 eligible high risk individuals living in the out-county area have not received preventive shots for the Swine and Victorian flus.

Hoping to reach those residents included in the high risk category, final clinics have been scheduled for Nov. 20 at the Westland and Southland centers as well as Henry Ford Centennial Library in Dearborn. The final high risk clinics will be open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Turnouts for the first high risk clinics in Western Wayne County were:

- Geneva United Presbyterian Church, Canton Township, 302;
- J Building, Wayne County General Hospital-Eloise, Westland 859;
- St. Paul's Lutheran Church, New Boston, 245;
- Tonquish Creek Manor, Plymouth, 779;
- Romulus City Hall, Romulus, 259;

—Family Medical Center of Oakwood Hospital, Sumpter Township, 215;

—Berean Baptist Church, Van Buren Township, 290; and —Westland Center, Westland, 1,095.

Western Wayne County high risk clinics attracted 12,173 residents at eight different sites.

In announcing the Nov. 20 clinic, Dr. Perry Stearns, Health Department director, cited a recent report by the Harvard Medical School that estimated that there is a 10 to 40 percent chance of a Swine Flu epidemic occurring this season.

The Harvard report went on to say that an estimated 56 million Americans would be infected, with approximately 50,000 dying in the influenza outbreak, Stearns added, saying that 38 percent of the excess flu-related deaths would occur on persons 65 years of age and older.

High risk patients have been defined as persons 60 years of age and older and all chronically ill persons 18 years of age and older.

For further information on the free vaccination, call 729-6616.

Don Riegle — one very tough campaigner

By BOB BERG

Panax Lansing Bureau Chief

There is one thing everyone agrees on when discussing Michigan's new United States Senator:

Donald Riegle is a very tough campaigner.

That factor, more than any one thing, has carried him to a series of stunning victories in a political career that spans 10 years and both of the major parties.

And it accounts, more than any one thing, for his victories this year in the Democratic primary against two veteran Democrats and in the general election against Republican Congressman Marvin Esch — himself a proven winner in a tough district.

Riegle started out taking on Secretary of State Richard Austin, a man who had a 94 percent recognition factor, and Congressman James O'Hara, a veteran of 18 years in Congress and a favorite of the party faithful. He campaigned incessantly around the state, insisting he would win the primary when all the non-partisan polls showed him losing by a large margin.

The polls were wrong and he was right, winning by a comfortable margin.

He started the fall campaign as the favorite, but Esch started eating away at the Riegle lead by continually hammering at him, accusing him of a series of inconsistencies. Then he was hit by two separate stories published by the Detroit News, the first accusing him of forging his first wife's name to an income tax refund and the second detailing, complete with transcripts, an affair he had carried on in 1969 with an unpaid staff worker.

It was the sort of devastating story, both politically and personally, that would have derailed many a candidate.

Riegle, instead, met it head-on, saying there was nothing improper with the way the check was handled and admitting the affair as a mistake which he had "deeply regretted" in the intervening years.

"Lesser men would have folded then," says Doug Dibbert, Riegle's campaign manager.

The result was a turnaround in the flow of public sentiment — a backlash against the negative campaign Esch was running, or at least was perceived to be running. The result of that was the Riegle victory.

Riegle on the stump is a very effective speaker who has an ability to use mannerisms and say things other men would not be able to use without being accused of being phony.

He invariably removes his suit coat, loosens his tie, rolls up his sleeves and starts talking. He periodically will run his hands through his perpetually mussed up hair. He has an ability to articulate the thoughts of whatever audience he is speaking to, having researched those particular issues ahead of time so he is able to conduct an informed discussion of them.

With municipal officials he talks about revenue sharing and the problems of balancing budgets; with farmers he talks about how tough it is to make a living in agriculture these days; with labor groups he talks about unemployment and the need to eliminate it.

It is a style that carried him to Congress as a Republican from an overwhelmingly Democratic district. It is a style that made him so formidable a vote getter that he almost carried Jimmy Carter to a victory in Michigan on his coat tails.

Democratic State Chairman Morley Winograd was asked recently if he felt Riegle would have been the Republican Senate nominee this year if he had stayed in the Republican Party.

"I have no doubt he would be," Winograd said. "He is a very effective campaigner."

As we see it

Good luck, Pat Cullin

THE JOB AHEAD for Pat Cullin will not be easy.

Although voters mandated her with the authority to serve the next two years as supervisor of Van Buren Township, the margin of her victory over Landy Box was not all that substantial.

She will be scrutinized as she handles the reins of government and that is as it should be. But she also deserves a chance to accomplish the goals that she has set for herself and the community.

We would earnestly hope that all of Van Buren rally behind her, including those residents who cast their lot with Mr. Box.

It would be indeed tragic if the political factions that now divide the community were to become so militant as to make it difficult for the governmental process to continue in an orderly fashion. The township, its people, and its good name would lose dearly should "war" break out.

All one has to do is look at Canton Township to see how warring factions created an armed camp there the past two years.

As Supervisor Elton Gollwitzer leaves office Nov. 20 he can look back on a respectable six years at the helm of the township's government. He has proven to be an able leader and has left Mrs. Cullin a tidy, organized program with which to work.

We have confidence Mrs. Cullin will mature on the job and continue to provide Van Buren with the good leadership it has been accustomed to.

We can only restate our hope expressed earlier in an editorial endorsing Mrs. Cullin. Above all, we implore her to maintain an open mind and listen to all sides. That's not as easy as it sounds. But we feel Mrs. Cullin is up to it.

His victory encourages Democrats to set sights on two GOP seats...

LANSING — The glow of victory still lingers among Democrats in Michigan, but already there are thoughts of 1978 and the two enticing opportunities it offers a host of young and hungry Democrats.

Two seats now held by Republicans — the governorship and a U.S. Senate seat — will be up for election and the road is clear for the young turks. The older generation of party leaders have all had their shot at the brass ring and can be expected to know their place on the sidelines.

For example:

- Secretary of State Richard Austin lost badly in his try for the Senate this year and can only try for re-election.

- former gubernatorial nominee Sander Levin lost two tries for the governorship and is through.

- Attorney General Frank Kelley lost his try for the Senate in 1972. His lack of appetite for a primary fight, which he would surely face, seems to assure he'll try for another term as attorney general if he runs for anything.

- former Detroit mayor Jerome Cavanaugh has lost too many statewide races to be considered a serious threat.

- Congressman James O'Hara stumbled badly in his Senate try this year and is going into private practice.

- former Gov. John Swainson's career has been ruined by his conviction in federal court on bribery conspiracy charges.

- former Gov. G. Mennen Williams' Supreme Court term expires in 1978 and he presumably will run for another term there.

These men have been the key names bounced back and forth in Michigan Democratic politics over the past decade when the governorship or the Senate was being discussed. But their complete departure from the scene has brought forth a new group of potential candidates. The list includes:

- House Speaker Bobby Crim, probably the most-mentioned possibility for the Democratic gubernatorial nod. Crim does nothing to discourage such talk and has done a very efficient job of running the House to build a good record to run on. If he enters the race, he'd be perhaps the favorite for the nomination.

- Senate Majority Leader William Fitzgerald, who has made no secret of his longing for the governor's office. Fitzgerald first must get past a crucial test vote in the Senate Democratic caucus Dec. 16 to see if he holds onto his leadership post.

- State Sen. Patrick McCollough, another possible gubernatorial candidate. McCollough has been one of Fitzgerald's major detractors, and a Fitzgerald stumble Dec. 16 would help him.

- Public Service Commissioner William Ralls, another young Democrat who lusts in his heart after the governorship. Ralls has no ready constituency within the party, however, and would face an uphill road in a primary contest.

- Former Detroit Mayor Roman Gribbs, who has been mentioned as a potential gubernatorial candidate but whose image was tarnished by a lackluster race for the Supreme Court this year which he lost by a 2-1 margin.

- Congressman William Ford, whose name pops up in Senate speculation but whose ardor may have been cooled by what happened to O'Hara this year. Ford and O'Hara have a lot of similarities.

- State Sen. John Otterbacher, of Grand Rapids, who flirted with a Senate candidacy this year but withdrew well before the primary. Otterbacher's ambition has not cooled, but he still faces the problem of trying to carve out a constituency. He is a liberal Democrat from western Michigan — not a popular combination.

- Congressmen William

Brodhead and James Blanchard, two young members of Congress who just won second terms and might decide to take a step up to the Senate.

The ambitions may be interchangeable, with candidates moving to one or the other spots as it looks more or less attractive. Should Crim get a lock on the gubernatorial nomination, for instance, other gubernatorial hopefuls might look more closely at the Senate.

And there is one other sobering factor for the potential candidates. All of them have secure niches in the political structure right now. To go after either the governorship or senate would mean facing either Gov. William G. Milliken, a man who has proven he can win in the worst GOP years, or Sen. Robert P. Griffin, a two-termer whose political life has been charmed by good fortune.

A young hopeful in his 30's or 40's might find it a prudent course to pass this time around, not risking a safe job to take on a very tough opponent. That is a choice, and a risk, that each of them will have to decide on in the next two years.

The optimistic will decide it's the same sort of risk Don Riegle took this time around.

The pessimistic will point out it's also the same risk Jim O'Hara and Marvin Esch took.

...But the task of unseating both Milliken, Griffin seen as difficult LANSING — If Gov. William G. Milliken had been contemplating stepping down at the end of his current term, those thoughts must be fading away in the aftermath of the Nov. 2 general election.

Michigan Republicans find themselves in a position where they can't afford to give up their most proven vote getter — their only real statewide vote getter. The pressure on him to run will be overwhelming.

The GOP lost a president, lost the U.S. Senate race, lost a Supreme Court judge, lost two seats in the state House of Representatives and stayed on the wrong end of a 12-7 split in the state congressional delegation. In the legislature they are now down 24-14 in the Senate and 68-42 in the House.

Milliken, who twice has won races in this Democratic state in what were Democratic years, thus stands out as the Michigan GOP's version of the Kohinor Diamond — a one of a kind, irreplaceable commodity.

There is one other statewide Republican officeholder — Senator Robert Griffin — left in the state. But Griffin has a history of riding coattails, of running behind the head of his ticket, rather than being a strong vote getter. In 1966 he ran behind Gov. George Romney and in 1972 he ran behind President Nixon. It's doubtful he would look with favor on a decision by his fellow Traverse City native to go back home.

Both Milliken and Griffin have been left by the election with no practical alternative to running again if they wish to stay in politics. The loss by President Ford eliminates speculation, never really taken seriously here, that Milliken might get a cabinet post. It also ends the speculation, which was taken seriously, that Griffin might get a Supreme Court appointment.

Party leaders have made no secret of their hope Milliken would run again, even before they knew what the election results would be.

"I don't know what he'll do, but I hope he does run," State GOP Chairman William McLaughlin said a week before the election. "I'm going to urge him to run."

The election results certainly showed Michigan is still a state of ticket splitters — a fact which has made Milliken's survival possible. Michigan voters went with Ford and then went with Democrat Donald Riegle for the Senate. They elected a Republican, a Democrat and an independent to three open Supreme Court seats. They voted overwhelmingly in favor of a ban on nonreturnable bottles and cans despite a multi-million dollar advertising campaign against the ban. In short, they showed they are a pretty independent lot.

Milliken gave an early indication he intends to be around for a while in a post-election statement issued by his office.

"I think the Republican Party must continue to broaden its base and to be a broad-gauged party representing all elements within the state of Michigan," he said. "That has been our prescription for success in the past and this is the reason we have won so many statewide races — even as the minority party — and I intend to do precisely that."

"I intend to continue my interest and involvement in the national Republican party organization to make it the broad, sensitive, responsive party organization that I think it must be in order to deserve the support of the people of this country in subsequent years."

The governor stands now as one of the major figures in the national party if he chooses to try to make his opinions known.

His words do not sound like those of a man getting ready to retire to the shores of Grand Traverse Bay.

Article is effective in alerting community to hot lunch deadline

To the Editor:

Your recent article, "Seniors Hot Lunches Stopped Cold," was highly effective in alerting the community about the impending deadline for this nutrition program.

Several new sites have been suggested and are now being investigated for approval as a result of this article. In addition, community-spirited individuals have contacted me and are using their influence inside their respective church councils and group organizations to assist the implementation of the "Food and Friendship" project.

I referred one retired local couple to the same program available in Canton Township; they were very impressed and asked the pertinent question, "Why can't we have that program here?"

Indeed, we can! The facilities are here (somewhere).

Your publication of the interest and availability of the hot lunch program for seniors in Van Buren and Belleville has improved our chances of meeting our December 3 deadline.

Now more than ever I will need your support and your active individual contact in directing our community's future as I look forward to representing Van Buren Township as your supervisor.

All alone

When you've been sick for a good many years.
Suffered so much you could shed a river of tears.
But you're so sick, you simply dare not cry.
It would make you worse is the reason why.

So, upon your face you force a smile.
Then folks think you're not sick, while all the while your hurt and suffering you then hide.
But, oh, how you're crying deep down inside.

When your relatives or someone says you're not ill.
When you're very sick it's a bitter pill.
I don't know how they can be that cruel.
They're sure not living by the golden rule.

But some day they will get bad sick, you see.
I hope someone tells them you're not sick, like they did me.

Then maybe they'll see and do their part and say they're sorry for breaking my heart.

I have some friends who stop into say hello.
In about every six months, or so, they want to go some place where they can have fun.
In a few minutes they say they have to run.

I have no true friend. I stand all alone
No one would care if I'd cry or moan.
They don't want to be friends with someone who's sick.
Their heart is as cold and hard as a brick.

A true friend would come at least once a week.
Even if you would be too sick to speak.
They would sit by your bed and hold your hand,
To show you they loved you and understand.

A true friend would help you in every way and would try to cheer you up each day.
A true friend would love you and really care.
Would treat you right and always be fair.

Would treat you nice and gentle and be kind.
But a friend like that is hard to find.
I don't complain if I live in a shack and wear old patched clothing upon my back.

I don't ask for much, just a friend or two
Who would stick by me and always be true.
Now I don't ask for fame or for wealth.
But, oh, how I wish that I had health.

Carter unification plan in peril

By PATRICK J. BUCHANAN
New York Times News Service

TORONTO — The day President William McKinley succumbed to an anarchist's bullet, Mark Hanna, Republican king-maker at the turn of the century, blurted aloud, "Oh my God, that damn cowboy's President." He was referring to the then 42-year-old vice-president, Theodore Roosevelt, who turned out to be not so calamitous after all.

Around 4 a.m. in a Toronto studio, when NBC gave Mississippi to Jimmy Carter, and with it the election, I confess to experiencing sentiments similar to those of Mr.

Hanna. Perhaps, like Hanna, I am wrong; but it is difficult to perceive how Jimmy Carter can successfully govern this nation for the next four years.

It was of significance that the state which nudged Jimmy Carter beyond the 270 electoral votes needed for victory was Mississippi, perhaps the most conservative state in the Union. Indeed, Jimmy Carter is today president-elect by virtue of having swept 10 of the 11 states of the Old Confederacy, the most conservative quadrant of the national electorate.

And yet, Jimmy Carter is also today the political leader of the nation's liberal party, a party dominated in both Houses by men of the left. Indeed, the Democratic Party is today not one, but three parties.

The first is the Wallace-Stennis-Rizzo party which is nationalistic, patriotic, economically moderate and socially conservative. The second is an internationalist, anti-Communist, pro-Zionist liberal party lead by such as Henry Jackson, George Meany and Daniel

P. Moynihan. The third is a socialist, anti-Communist, anti-military party which believes in laissez-faire in matters of sex and morality.

As long as the endeavor was to oust Mr. Nixon's hand-picked successor and divide the executive spoils, these three parties could and did unite behind Jimmy Carter. But on the 21st of January, Mr. Carter will be president. And he must then begin to make decisions which will inevitably antagonize either those Mississippians who put him over the top or the liberal Democrats who control both houses of the Congress with which he must work.

Despite the fact that black America made Jimmy Carter president he cannot stand aside and let courts and bureaucrats hand down one forced-busing order after another — if Mr. Carter wishes to retain the allegiance of the ethnic-Americans and Southern conservatives who gave him his majority.

With every state in Dixie with a right-to-work law on its books, and proud of it, what does Mr. Carter do when George Meany calls in his I.O.U. for all that labor effort — and demands Carter's signature on legislation making unionism compulsory in all 50 states?

With his promise to balance a budget $50 billion out of whack, what does the President say when the National Teachers Association calls for a supplemental appropriation for "education" as Carter promised — in exchange for political efforts of the NEA and teachers' unions?

The Brookings Institution has said America must cease savaging defense for social programs. How, then, can Mr. Carter make good on his promise to cut $7 billion from defense?

If he does and he surrenders the cruise missile at SALT II, the Southern conservatives will rise in revolt. If he does not cut defense, he will confront the same rebellion from the McGovern-McCarthy wing of the party as did Lyndon B. Johnson.

The President-elect, and his men, deserve credit for the tremendous effort they have made, and what they have achieved. An apprehensive nation wishes them well. But given the deep and abiding differences in political philosophy within Mr. Carter's party, there is no way it can remain united through a single year of presidential decisions.

Mr. Carter's "honeymoon" with Congress will be over by summer; and the curtain will have been rung down upon it by the fractious elements of his own party.

Will Carter substitute meanness for decency?

By JEFFREY ST. JOHN
Copley News Service

Washington — "He may be a lot of things," Jimmy Carter's speechwriter Patrick Anderson observed, "but one thing I know. He is tough. He is probably the toughest guy who ever ran."

This is not the image Jimmy Carter projected during the recently concluded presidential campaign. Instead we had a heady and syrupy dose of love, compassion, and unity served up.

This duality of the Carter character raises a fundamental question. Has Carter, so long a campaigner, really become tough and in the process callous and even intolerant of those who disagree with his view of the world?

My 15 years of covering national politics convinces me that the very nature of the political game can grind down a person and make him warped no matter who he is. In Carter's case this process of brutalization is more acute because of his intense drive to become president. Unlike most political commentators, I believe that Carter has harbored ambitions to be president ever since he left the Navy in 1953, if not before.

For this reason, and others, I believe that Jimmy Carter's election and President Ford's defeat symbolizes the departure of genuine decency and the emergence of meanness. The reason is that Ford never lusted so long for the power of the presidency, as did the man from Plains, Georgia.

Deep down Ford is a decent human being who believes that there is something indecent about trying to tell other people what is good for them whether they like it or not. Carter, like most liberals, believes exactly the opposite. This is what I think produces in Carter's character — as it does in most liberals — a meanness disguised and masked behind humanitarian sloganeering. Or, in Carter's case, professions of compassion and love. At the bottom most liberals, and Carter is no exception, are moralizers impatient with the folly, foolishness and even downright stupidity of us lesser mortals.

We have not had a moralizing president in Washington since Woodrow Wilson. Succeeding presidents, including Ford, had one thing in common: they had a healthy touch of skepticism, and in some respects cynicism, that men and women could not be counted on to rise above their own self-interest. In this, these presidents were confronting and respecting the nature of things as they are, not as the liberals would like them to be. Their policies, however liberal, tended to be based on expediency, and in some cases for reasons of power, but never based on the belief that man is a perfectible creature.

Woodrow Wilson's character was such that "magnanimity was simply beyond him," as the late H. L. Mencken observed, describing him as "Archangel Woodrow." Carter expresses a similar trait, in addition to his moralizing (not to be confused with genuine morality). Wilson's moralizing moved America into the quagmires of Europe and World War I and ended up erecting a dictatorship here at home. In short, the historical record shows that Wilson's moralizing was a disaster from which this nation has never fully recovered. This is why after the follies of Wilson the country chose a decent but rather dumb president from Ohio, Warren G. Harding.

H. L. Mencken was moved, as a result of his first-hand observation of the Wilson years, to make what should serve as a watchword for the Carter administration in the next four years: "The worst government is the most moral. One composed of cynics is often very tolerant and humane. But when fanatics get on top there is no limit to oppression."

Wilson was a moralizing fanatic and so is Carter. However, Wilson had some grounding in history.

Medicaid dilemma needs attention

By ELMER E. WHITE
Panax Corp. Consultant

Increasing costs of Medicaid, the program which provides complete medical attention to those who are unable to pay for such services, presents a new and growing dilemma for Michigan.

While everyone agrees that no one should lack needed medical attention and that people should be paid fairly for the work they do, the old question of where the money is coming from causes a major problem.

In 1967-68, the first full year records were kept, Medicaid payments to some 339,000 eligible people cost $150 million. The expense for 1976-77 is budgeted at $811 million, an amount which is obviously inadequate. Estimates by the Michigan Department of Social Services are that by 1981-82, the Medicaid bill will run more than $1.5 billion and serve more than 1.3 million people.

Medicaid is financed presently part by the state and part by the federal government. In order to keep within this year's budget, state officials have decreed that doctors will receive more than they charged for the same services in 1974. Since this did not reduce cost sufficiently, the state then told doctors they would be paid "temporarily" at that rate, minus 11 percent. The temporary aspect of that policy is looking permanent. Medicaid officials are looking for other ways to reduce costs.

Physicians are frequently blamed for the Medicaid deficit. The relatively few doctors found to be making a good thing of Medicaid or who abuse the program get much attention in the press.

The facts are, however, that payment to all doctors under Medicaid amounts to only 15.8 percent of funds expended. Hospitals receive 34.5 percent and nursing homes get 26.1 percent.

The basic Medicaid problem is that the state holds out the promise of complete medical service for all, but is unwilling or unable to appropriate sufficient funds.

Reducing fraud and abuse would help. But estimates are that this would save only about three percent of the funds allotted. Other reductions are under consideration, but none of these promise a solution without increasing funds.

It all boils down to this: Within a very short time members of the legislature or Michigan residents by a more direct method will be forced to find more money to fund the present Medicaid program or there will have to be changes in the services provided. There is some thought that more funds should be diverted from the 40 percent of state funds which are now spent on education, but this would result in harsh cries from schools, colleges, teacher groups and parents.

The only other money source is an increase in taxes on Michigan citizens, and this would result in harsher cries.

In the words of one working with the problem, "The state must either raise the bridge or lower the water." His definition is simply a restatement of the problem that the people of Michigan must decide if they want the Medicaid program continued at additional cost to them; or if they want it reduced in hopes that other ways can be found to provide the services—or that services simply won't be provided at the present level.

Carter has none; his intellectual grounding is theological, philosophical and ideological, not historical. Carter is full of theories, moralizing and plans to make Americans better even if it requires being tough with them. Decency is just another word for being tolerant. And because he is a moralizer, one must conclude that Carter has very little decency, such as that displayed the past two years by the departing Mr. Ford.

This is the real tragedy of the election outcome; decency will depart and a moralizing meanness is about to emerge. "Archangel Woodrow" has come back in the reincarnation of Archangel Jimmy.

Girlstown is a home for girls 12 to 17 years of age which is owned and operated by the Michigan State Federation of Women's Clubs. It affords girls unable to remain in their own home or a foster home a secure home-like atmosphere in which to live while continuing their education.

Free tests available during diabetes week

Free testing for diabetics will be available during Diabetes Detection Week, Nov. 7-13, at several hospitals in Western Wayne County.

The American Diabetes Association-Michigan Affiliate is sponsoring the testing in cooperation with 147 hospitals throughout the state.

Diabetes is a serious disease that is the leading cause of new blindness, and a major cause of heart attacks and kidney failures. Persons who run a high risk of developing diabetes are those over 40 years of age, overweight, the relative of a diabetic, or the mother of a child weighing 9 lbs. or more at birth.

However, anyone at any age can become a diabetic, according to Nancy Caputo, MD, chairman of detection for the the diabetes affiliate.

The most common symptoms of diabetes are excessive thirst, frequent urination, constant hunger, loss of weight, itching, tiring easily, blurring vision and slow healing of cuts and scratches. The disease, however, can be present without any symptoms, Dr. Caputo said.

The free testing is limited to residents 18 years of age and older who have not been diagnosed as diabetics previously. To assure an accurate test, a big meal which is heavy in starches and sugars, should be eaten approximately two hours before.

A good breakfast to have before the test would be fruit or juice, cereal with milk and sugar, buttered

CAP squad hosts weekend bivouac

The Constellation Cadet Squadron 16-1 of the Civil Air Patrol was host for a weekend bivouac at Willow Run Airport, the Squadron's meeting area, recently.

Cadets from the Constellation Cadet Squadron 16-1 and Plymouth Cadet Squadron 16-4 attended a First Aid training program, a requirement for the cadets and senior members in their training to be a member of a Search and Rescue team. Janet Sullivan and Paul Adams and Cadet Sgt. Douglas Keen of the Plymouth Squadron. Kenneth Jablonski, 1st. lieutenant Commander of the Plymouth Cadet Squadron, and his three Cadets were in charge of feeding the members present.

Attending from the Group 16 Staff was CAP Capt. Jack Stubbs, from the Plymouth Squadron was Senior Member Douglas Jablonski and from the Constellation Squadron was Willard G. Huffaker, first lieutenant, Commander; cadet first class Valerie Jones, of Belleville; Frances Whitlark, 1.c. second lieutenant, Cadet 1.c. After lectures the members were assigned teams where they were watched by an assistant as they practiced the techniques of bandaging, splinting, and carrying.

For more information about the Civil Air Patrol, a volunteer organization, and its adult and cadet programs call Willard G. Huffaker, first lieutenant, at 699-0850, after 6 p.m.

Hospital receives new equipment

Another sophisticated unit of electronic diagnostic equipment has been added to the inventory at the Peoples Community Hospital. Authority's Annapolis Hospital in Wayne.

We refer specifically to the echo cardiogram which is now being employed in selected cases and will shortly be ready for general application by the staff cardiologists.

"Echo cardiography," said Freida Hudson, a supervisor in the Cardio-Pulmonary Services Department under the direction of William Lacy, "is a procedure in which ultrasonic wave lengths are used to produce an echo of cardiac activity. This is translated electronically and printed-out as an adjunct to the standard electrocardiogram (EKG) tracing which is taken simultaneously."

She added that the procedure was painless. "After the patient has been tied into the EKG, we hand hold a device called a transducer which we move over the area of the patient's body from which the cardiologist orders the echo tracing," she said.

This equipment, which uses only ultrasonic wave lengths and no radiation, serves as one more tool at the cardiologists' disposal in the continuing battle with America's Number One killer - heart disease.

The print-out tracing produced by the echo activity is actually a record of the motions within the cardiac structure. Tissue depth, the occurrence of fluid in the pericardium (the membrane enclosing the heart muscle), and the amplitude and intensity of cardiac activity can be monitored.

Florida honeymoon follows Danowski-Pichan ceremony

Candlelight, altar flowers and ribboned pew markers set the mood September 4 for the double ring ceremony which united Lorrie Lynn Pichan and Thomas Joseph Danowski, both of New Boston, in holy matrimony.

The Rev. H. John Schaible presided at the 6 p.m. rite at St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church in Waltz where some 150 relatives and guests had assembled.

Music for the wedding was furnished by the bride's brother, Steve Pichan, and Gary Whitehouse.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Pichan of 17345 Hannan Rd., New Boston, the bride was given in marriage by her father. For her wedding day she chose to wear a gown of silk organza and lace styled with a high lace neckline, lace trimmed bishop sleeves and a bouffant skirt comprised of lace banded tiers which cascaded into a cathedral-length train.

Her 4-tiered illusion veil cut in various lengths was edged in lace and held by a lace bishop's cap. A cascade bouquet of white roses, daisies, mums and ivy completed her bridal finery.

A rainbow theme was chosen for the dresses worn by the bride's five attendants. Her sister, Diane Lawry of Jackson, was matron of honor in yellow chiffon over taffeta. The gowns, identical in style, were made with off the shoulder necklines accented with wide white lace which matched that at the empire waist and flounced hemlines. Each wore a white picture hat and carried a colonial bouquet of daisies tinted to match her dress, white carnations, baby's breath and ribbon streamers.

Preceding the bride up the aisle in peach, pale green, pink and blue ensembles were Evonne Whitehouse of New Boston; Lynn Vandervort of Trenton; and Anne and Margaret Danowski, both sisters of the bridegroom from New Boston.

For her role as flowergirl, 7-year-old Amy Pichan, sister of the bride, wore a little yellow dotted swiss frock, with short puffed sleeves, a lace-trimmed bodice and ruffled hemline. Six year old Teddy Danowski carried out the duties of ringbearer at his brother's wedding.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Danowski of 21016 Merriman, New Boston, the bridegroom asked his cousin, William Santina of New Boston, to serve as best man. The corps of ushers included Terry Danowski of Spring Lake, N. J., uncle of the bridegroom; Larry Kardeema of Wyandotte; Richard Lawry of Jackson, brother-in-law of the bride, and Kirk Pichan of New Boston, brother of the bride.

At the reception which followed in the Elks Lodge in Flat Rock, the bride's mother greeted guests in a long-sleeved two-toned silver lame gown to which she pinned her corsage of white roses and carnations tied with silver ribbon. For her son's wedding, Mrs. Danowski donned a cotton floral print gown with lace sleeves. Her corsage was comprised of yellow roses and white carnations accented with a yellow bow.

Since returning from a week-long honeymoon in Florida, the newlyweds have made their home at 36560 Huron River Drive, New Boston.

The new Mrs. Danowski is a 1976 graduate of Huron High School and the Virginia Farrell Beauty School. Her husband, a 1972 alumnus of Huron High School, is employed at Gar Manufacturing in Taylor.

Nolffs enjoy Florida trip

By MRS. JOSEPH SPRING
699-4021

After having spent some time at Zephyrhills and other places in Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Nolf of Edison Street returned home last Monday. Enroute home they spent several days with their son and family, the Larry Nolf of Fairfax, Va.

Mrs. Walter (Hazel) Greashaber of West Columbia Avenue has been a patient at Beyer Hospital, Ypsilanti.

Miss Pearl Johnson of Detroit was a guest for several days this past week of cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Deering of West Columbia Avenue.

Mrs. Clayton Saunders of Liberty Street was a weekend guest of her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Saunders and family of Fraser.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Messer of Huron River Drive entertained at a Halloween slumber party on Saturday night, Oct. 30. Present for the many activities were 26 members of the Cougar Junior Varsity Football League. Movies of the previous meetings and parties were enjoyed. They all wish to express special thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grover of South Huron Orchards for donating cider and apples for bobbing, also to Keller's Haggerty Road Bakery for the five dozen doughnuts.

Mrs. John Tontalo of Liberty Street, who was a patient at Beyer Hospital for several days, has been moved to the University of Michigan Medical Center. Cards may be addressed to her at 6th Floor East.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brown of Horseshoe Bend, Ark. were calling on relatives and friends in the community several days this past week.

Mrs. Carl Kuerth of Beulah has been a guest this past week of her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Lupher of Karr Road.

Having sold their home on West Huron River Drive, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Adams recently moved to Portland, Tenn.

Fomer Quirk Road residents, Mr. and Mrs. Troye Lambert, now of Harrison, were weekend guests of relatives and friends in and around Belleville.

Christmas boutique offerings

Handmade and hand-crafted items will be the highlight Nov. 13 when St. Paul's Lutheran Church in New Boston presents its Christmas boutique from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Shirley Freitag (center), chairman of the event, holds a hand knit afghan and wears a hand-crocheted stole — just two of the many articles which church women have been busy preparing for sale in various booths. Dee Boik (left), committee member, and Myrt Gilstruff (right), assistant chairman, hold sofa pillows and stocking caps. Other attractions Saturday will be leather goods, dolls, crazy T-shirts, homemade bread "by John", homemade candy, jewelry, dried flower arrangements, a bake booth and refreshments. A Children's Corner where no adults are allowed will be a special feature for the younger set. The public is invited to stop in.

Citrus peel art, dough roses shown at Home Arts Club

The November meeting of the Home Arts Club of Belleville was held in the home economics room of North Junior High School where two guests, Carol Santure and Nelva Watkins, were introduced to the 17 members.

Beverly Eichold presided at the brief business meeting and reminded the group that the traditional Christmas party would be held at her home on Lenmore Drive at 8 p.m. on Dec. 13. Members voted to once again exchange homemade or handmade holiday gifts.

Program chairman Marilyn Prill then introduced Eloise Roe of Westland who enjoys working with dried citrus peel. From the skins of limes, lemons, oranges, tangerines and grapefruit and even the wild osage oranges, she has made various plaques and floral arrangements which she displayed as she explained the procedure for working with peel. All her work is contributed to her church bazaar or given as gifts.

She also brought colored bread dough and demonstrated how to make tiny rose buds. Passing around corage pins and bits of the dough, she had members try their skill at forming the flowers.

Dessert and beverages were served from an autumn theme table by hostesses for the evening, Eunice Kause, Sally Jones and Mildred Baker.

HEADLINE: easing the burden: Pre-Planning
The seriousness of the situation was evident in the nurse's voice.

"Could you please come to the hospital right away, Chaplain Miller?" Mr. Gary has just had a cardiac arrest and his wife is absolutely beside herself.

"How does it look for him?" asked Chaplain Miller. "We just don't know which way it's going to go," She said, "but it doesn't look good at all."

Chaplain Miller placed the phone back in its cradle. IT was six o'clock on a pleasant summer Saturday evening. Death, in any shape or form, he thought, seemed entirely inappropriate. Nevertheless, in slightly less than two hours, Mr. Gary died.

Chaplain Miller explained that although Mrs. Gary had support from relatives and good friends, she was unprepared to handle all the arrangements to be made in the hours and days after her husband's death. Decision and details, many of which could have been attended to long ago, confronted her.

Pre-planning is sensible
Planning for death and burial is reasonable, logical and practical, perhaps we do not like to think about our own funeral, much less plan for them. But, in fact, there are three very sound reasons for pre-planning.

First, it brings the subject into the open, where it can be discussed by members of the family. Second, pre-planning enables a person to make his wishes clearly known, thus guiding survivors and making their decision-making that much wiser and easier. Third, it can eliminate completely any possible disagreement as to doing "what would be most appropriate" or "what he or she would have wanted us to do."

Overflow crowd urges board to restore spring musical

An overflow crowd attended the Van Buren Board of Education meeting Monday night seeking to restore the annual spring High School musical production.

The spring musical, which involved 170 students last year and costs in the area of $3,000, was cut due to millage failures this past summer.

Discussion lasted for about a hour and 15 minutes, with the school board authorizing a joint committee made up of its members and community residents to see how the money could be raised.

"This is such a marvelous production each year, that the people really feel they are missing out on a vital part of the music department's talents," said SchoolSupt. Dale Kaulitz after the meeting.

"We have five showings each spring and each one is packed, but it still doesn't pay for itself." We're doing everything we can to see if the musical can be restored next spring," Kaulitz said.

One of the problems, Kaulitz pointed out, is that teachers and other school employees make up an important part of the production staff and the teachers' contract may prohibit them from donating their services if their union objects.

Some teachers feel they shouldn't donate their services if the people choose not to pass the millage needed for the activities, he said.

Harvest crusade planned by church

Bethany Baptist Church of Belleville will conduct a Thanksgiving Harvest Crusade Sunday through next Wednesday, with The Rev. Robert Mignard, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Oak Park, as the guest speaker.

The Rev. Mignard is a graduate of the Moody Bible Institute and in the late 1960s studied counseling under Dr. Jay Adams. He served as staff counselor for three years in the Christian Counseling Clinic in New Jersey and also served as an instructor at the Detroit Bible College for two years.

His schedule during the crusade at Bethany Baptist Church will be lectures at the 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. Sunday services, with a buffet supper at 6:30 p.m. to precede his 7:30 p.m. service Monday. Tuesday he will speak at 7 p.m., as well as on Wednesday evening, when his lecture will have a youth emphasis.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Ridder, musical evangelists, will care for children ages 4 through 11 years during the services, utilizing puppets and similar items to present Bible stories to the youngsters.

The church is located at 810 E. Huron River Drive, Belleville.

Hunter traffic to be heaviest on weekend

Although 710,000 hunters are expected in Michigan's woods for the Nov. 15 beginning of firearm deer season, traffic on major travel routes prior to the opener should not reflect the near-record turnout, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

"This season, opening day falls on a Monday for the first time since 1948. That means hunters will have the entire weekend to reach hunting camps," said Joseph Ratke of the Auto Club.

Traffic volumes from major metropolitan areas to the northern Lower and Upper peninsulas are expected to be similar to those of a typical summer weekend on Friday and Saturday.

"While the vanguard of northbound hunter traffic will be notable Friday morning, Friday night traffic should be heaviest, with peak travel expected between 4 and 11 p.m. On Saturday, most hunters should be on the road between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Sunday's traffic patterns to the north country should be light to moderate at most," Ratke said.

During peak travel times Friday, occasional traffic slowdowns may occur at these points:

— I-75 between the extremities of I-675 at Saginaw. The freeway here narrows from three lanes to two. This stretch will not be widened until a new high-level I-75 bridge is built over the Saginaw River near the Zilwaukee drawbridge.

— At the northeast city limits of Jackson, I-94 is reduced from two lanes to one both ways for widening of the Cooper Street bridge and construction of an exit ramp.

There are no other major construction areas on other major routes leading to northern Michigan which could affect deer hunter traffic.

Mackinac Bridge officials expect more than 24,000 hunter-vehicles cross the span both ways before the firearm deer season ends Nov. 30. This is a 5 percent increase over last year.

Between 110,000 and 113,000 deer are expected to be bagged this season.

Automobile Club of Michigan will provide traveling deer hunters with traffic updates via radio between 8 a.m. and 11 p.m. Friday through Sunday.

Heart attack!

Hunters should take precaution for survival's sake

For many Western Wayne County residents there is no sport quite like hunting in the dead of winter. But one aspect of hunting is survival, perhaps from the ravages of a blizzard, from being lost in the woods, or from a heart attack.

About 650,000 individuals throughout the country die of a heart attack each year, and many of them are hunters. To this latter group, the Michigan Heart Association offers some sound advice:

—Don't hunt alone. Alert others of what trails you might follow or whether you'll range along a summit or a specific ridge.

—Investigate the availability of game wardens, forest rangers or State Police. Their services may be needed for emergency treatment.

—Dress warmly, with clothes and boots that are water repellant and wind resistant.

—The simple act of hiking through the woods or across rough terrain exerts physical stress upon the heart. This is particularly true in cold weather with freezing or near-freezing temperatures.

The body reacts to cold by constricting its small arteries, through which blood passes away from the heart to various parts of the body. This natural response reduces loss of body heat and when it takes place, the heart must work harder to pump blood through the narrowed arteries. Its load is further increased because the arteries which feed the heart itself are constricted as well.

Additional stress occurs when the blood pressure rises, which sometimes happens in cold weather or when the person exercises and from the wind chill factor, the difference between the actual temperature and the equivalent temperature caused by the wind. As the actual temperature decreases, the wind chill factor increases.

For hunters whose families have a history of heart trouble, the association recommends seeing a physician before venturing into the field. The group also urges residents to recognize the symptoms of a heart attack. They are:

—Prolonged, heavy pressure or squeezing pain in the center of the chest behind the breastbone.

—Pain which spread may to the shoulder, arm, neck or jaw.

—Pain or discomfort accompanied by sweating, nausea, vomiting or shortness of breath also may occur.

—Symptoms may subside then return.

If you're hunting and your partner, or another sportsman, has these systems, try to "neutralize" the person by having him lie down and making him as warm and comfortable as possible. Get help immediately.

Time is the key. Get the victim to a doctor or to a hospital as soon as possible. Of the estimated 650,000 individuals who die from heart attacks each year, more than one half die before reaching the hospital because they don't recognize the symptoms and don't know where to get help.

'Open meetings' bill is signed into law

LANSING — What could have been just another bill signing became a history-making occasion as State Senator David A. Plawecki (D-Dearborn Heights), the chief architect of the "open meetings" bill, watched the Governor sign into law a new era of openness in government.

The new law, which officially takes effect next April 10, strengthens the right of all Michigan citizens to know what goes on in government by requiring public bodies to conduct nearly all business at open meetings.

"While the signing of this important bill culminates the legislative effort needed to bring this law into existence, it also marks the beginning of an increased awareness of public responsibility that will permeate all levels of government," Plawecki said.

"And what is also important is that the enactment of this law demonstrates that the state legislature has been listening to what the people of Michigan have been telling us about the kind of government they want," Plawecki added.

The coverage of the new law is very broad. City councils, township and village boards, county boards of commissioners, local boards of education, community college and state university governing boards and all other local appointed or elected boards and commissions must act in accordance with the provisions of the open meetings law.

The basic requirement is that all deliberations and decisions made by public bodies, with very few exceptions, will have to be made in public.

In addition, voting records of all official actions taken in meetings will have to be made available to the public.

A public body also will be required to list its meeting dates at the beginning of every year. Special or rescheduled meetings will require 18-hours notice.

There is even a provision for individual notification by mail. Following a written request and the payment of a reasonable fee to cover printing and postage, any individual or organization may have the meeting notices of a public body mailed to them.

"The few exceptions to the open meeting requirement are strictly regulated," Plawecki said.

Those circumstances for which a closed meeting could be allowed include:

The disciplining of an employee or public officer; dismissal or disciplining of a student by a school district; strategy and negotiation sessions during collective bargaining; consideration of property purchases; discussion of pending legal matters which have a financial impact; to review the initial application for employment or appointment to public office; partisan caucuses of the state legislature; and to consider material exempted by state or federal law.

"The personal nature of some of the exceptions, and the sensitivity associated with the others, accounts for why these particular situations were allowed for," Plawecki commented.

The Wayne County Democrat also pointed out that the new law has teeth in it.

A public official who deliberately violated the law would be guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of up to $1,000, along with liability for damages. Conviction for a second violation within the same term also would constitute a misdemeanor punishable by a fine up to $2,000 and/or imprisonment for not more than one year.

"Hopefully," Plawecki said, "this guarantee of openness will encourage more of our citizens to become directly involved in government, both in terms of running for office and attending the regular meetings of their local city council and board of education."

History-making occasion

Three state legislators share the spotlight with Gov. William Milliken after the state's chief executive recently signed an historic "open meetings" bill. With Milliken are (left) State Rep. David Hollister (D), Lansing; State Rep.

Thomas Brown (D), Westland, and State Sen. David Plawecki (D), Dearborn Heights. Hollister and Brown fought for the House version of the bill and Plawecki worked for its passage in the Senate.

Land set aside for solar site extended option

Unanimous approval to extend the option on two parcels of land which are being considered for construction of a national Solar Energy Research Institute has been granted by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

The two tracts of county-owned land, located in Romulus and Northville Townships, are part of a proposal to bring the $20 million Solar Energy Research Institute (SERI) to Michigan. When operational, the center would employ 1,500 persons.

John Mogk, president of the Michigan Energy and Resource Research Association, (MERRA) along with industrial and community leaders, has waged an all-out campaign to have Michigan selected over 16 other states which have made application for the site.

"We had expected the Energy Research and Development Administration, the government agency evaluating the applications, to announce their decision next month, but they have decided to extend the date from December to March 1977," Mogk explained.

"We still feel confident that Michigan has the best proposal and will win the competition," he said.

The two county-owned parcels are 338 acres in Romulus on the south side of Van Buren, west of Merriman, with the southern boundary being Beverly. Another parcel of 320 acres is located in Northville Township, on the east side of Beck between Five Mile and Six Mile roads.

Michigan's proposal includes two other sites, one of Willow Run Airport and one in Superior Township in Washtenaw County.

MERRA is proposing that the research institute set up temporary quarters in the American Center Building, located at Telegraph and I-696 in Southfield, while the permanent facility is constructed. This could house the laboratory for up to five years and would be operated by the Bendix Corp.

1977 car license plate tabs go on sale beginning Monday

Beginning Monday State residents will be able to purchase 1977 passenger car license plate tabs. "Prepared applications have been mailed to Michigan's approximately 5.5 million passenger car and motorcycle owners," said Joseph Ratke, licensing manager of the Automobile Club of Michigan. "These forms can be mailed back to the Department of State immediately with orders to be filled after Nov. 15."

"Tabs also will be available at Department of State and 51 Auto Club offices across the state. One tab will be issued and it should be fastened to the upper right corner of the rear plate." The issuance of tabs instead of new plates is expected to save the state approximately $3.3 million. Deadline for tabs ordered by mail is March 1 for passenger cars and motorcycles and Feb. 1 for commercial vehicles and trailers. The deadline for having 1977 tabs on passenger cars is April 1 while it is March 1 for commercial vehicles. Approximately one million tab orders are expected to be filled by mail. Last year, vehicle owners purchased about 850,000 license plates by mail. "Vehicle owners should check the prepared license plate tab application closely for errors, fill in missing information and sign the certification," Ratke advised. "Cost of the tab is printed on the form." To obtain a tab at Department of State or Auto Club offices, motorists must bring in either the prepared renewal form, the 1976 registration or the certificate of vehicle title plus proof of public liability and property damage insurance. "Motorists who use their vehicle title for proof must know their license plate number," Ratke added.

First motorcycle mechanic certification exam is set

The Bureau of Automotive Regulation is becoming concerned that hundreds of Michigan motorists may miss out on their first chance to meet the requirements of the state's new Motor Vehicle Service and Repair Law, according to Secretary of State Richard Austin.

The law requires every motorcycle repair shop in the state to employ at least one certified mechanic after December of next year — less than 13 months from now.

The first motorcycle mechanic certification exam will be given in six weeks, on Dec. 11, with Nov. 15 as the deadline for registering to take the exam. Only about 125 persons have registered so far.

After this exam, motorcycle mechanics won't have another opportunity to become certified until after April 1977, when the next exam will be held. Austin pointed out: "Early certification will give motorcycle mechanics immediate increased value on the job market — in meeting the needs of the repair shops, as well as in increasing customer confidence in their individual skills."

"In addition, it will give them an important head start on meeting the requirement that every motorcycle mechanic in the state must be certified after December 1980."

Examination announcements are available at all Secretary of State branch offices and at most Michigan motorcycle dealers and repair shops, as well as at many community colleges. Copies also may be obtained directly from the Bureau of Automotive Regulation in Lansing by calling (517) 373-9060. Exam cost is $5, payable by the Nov. 15 registration deadline.

Calamity Jane

Dilapidated auto helps promote better car care

"Calamity Jane", a badly neglected 1967 Ford Mustang, is in Belleville this week to promote better car care. Her appearances at participating Shell Oil dealers since Oct. 18 are being co-sponsored by the Car Care Council.

Dubbed "...an accident going someplace to happen?", the dilapidated automobile can be seen at the Shell Oil station, at I-94 and Belleville Road through Sunday. A contest, open to the public, calls for entrants to name discrepancies on Calamity Jane beyond those labeled on the car. Contestants naming 10 correctly will become winners.

The purpose of the contest is to add to the exhibit's educational value, to promote Car Care Council's (CCC) message: "Take Care Of Your Car".

CCC, a non-profit public information agency, spreads the word for preventive maintenance at the national level through public service messages in print and broadcast media, and at the local level via programs such as the one being launched by Shell in the Detroit area.

The council's concept is that, through improved public concern about car maintenance, America's motorists can reduce the accident rate, conserve fuel and improve the quality of the air we breathe. The Calamity Jane program is one step in that direction.

If Calamity's previous owner had checked over his car, he probably would have put her in the junk yard where she belonged. Instead, he attempted to fix her up just enough for the car to run.

The owner wanted only "wheels". He probably never considered his own life and those of others. Fortunately, CCC discovered Calamity Jane before it was too late. When officials from the council noticed the car on an expressway, it was swerving so badly it seemed destined for disaster.

The owner was happy to sell Calamity to CCC. She had no heater, and needed a warm place to sleep in the winter. Now she's used only for the purpose of educating motorists on preventive car maintenance.

If you're interested in launching a Calamity Jane program in your community, contact Car Care Council, 17000 Executive Plaza, Dearborn 48126, or call 336-6926.

The 'Big One' — Glenn vs. Wayne

Rockets are one victory from coveted perfect season

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

There is a hush hovering over the Wayne-Westland Community School District like the one that preceded a storm.

And all hell is expected to break loose Friday night at John Glenn

One of a kind

With an Edsel Ford defender taken out of the play, Belleville's Kevin Barnes (32) lunges into the T-Bird end zone, scoring the Tigers' only touchdown of the evening. Edsel won the Suburban 8 Conference finale 28-6 to claim half of the league title. The loss left Belleville with a 5-3 over-all record. They'll meet Ypsilanti Friday night in the 1976 campaign's curtain-drawer.

Edsel Ford buries Belleville's hopes for a league crown

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

Edsel Ford forced Coach Pat Stokes and Belleville's Tigers to lock up their football title plans for at least another year as the visiting T-Birds won a convincing 28-6 decision Friday night before 2,000 shivering Belleville fans.

Edsel and Dearborn, each with one loss, emerged as the Suburban 8 Conference co-champs, while Belleville wound up in third place (5-2) in the final league standings.

It was the most league wins posted by a Belleville grid team since the inauguration of the Suburban 8 five years ago.

"We were emotionally keyed up for this game," said Stokes, "and I felt we played well, except for the turnovers."

Stokes won't have to worry about getting his team up Friday for its final game of the 1976 campaign. The Tigers will meet neighborhood rival, Ypsilanti, in the curtain-drawer.

Ypsilanti will be in town 7:30 p.m., sporting a 7-1 record. The Braves still have hopes of reaching a post-season playoff and need the victory. "It's always an interesting game," Stokes noted. "These kids know one another and you don't have to get them up for this game."

when Coach Jerry Lutri's undefeated Rockets host arch-rival, Wayne Memorial.

Wayne stands in the Westlanders' path to their first perfect football season and Lutri and his minions need the win in order to keep their post-season playoff hopes alive. (If Livonia Stevenson and Farmington Harrison should lose their final games, Glenn could represent Region II in the Michigan High School Athletic Association semi-finals.)

Also at stake in Friday night's game is the annual Wayne Jaycees' Fall Classic Football Trophy, awarded the victor of the game. Glenn has owned the impressive trophy the past two years after Wayne had won it the first three times.

"Glenn's record speaks for itself," said Wayne's Floyd Carter whose team is trying to shrug off a three-game losing streak. "They're 8-0 and we're No. 9, so you know they're going to play their hearts out to win."

Lutri, rounding out his first season as Glenn's head coach, realizes that "records really don't mean much when these two teams meet."

"It's going to be one heck of a ball game, you can count on that," Lutri added. "And, don't let their records

Loss mars dedication of Wayne High stadium

Unable to overcome four crucial turnovers which resulted in Taylor Truman touchdowns, Wayne Memorial dropped its third straight Great Lakes Conference football decision 34-14 Friday night before a freezing audience estimated at 4,000.

The loss also marred Wayne High Stadium dedication ceremonies. The stadium was dedicated in the memory of William L. Elliott, former athletic director who died last year.

deceive you. Last year we were 7-1 and they were 5-3 and we barely won a 3-0 game from them."

Some 6,000 fans are expected to witness Friday night's confrontation. Fans, are cautioned to get there early.

Berkley was Glenn's eighth victim of the year as the Westlanders chalked up a 28-6 victory over their hosts. Glenn bolted from a 9-6 halftime lead with a two touchdown burst in the third quarter. The Rockets picked up a fourth quarter TD on Tim Ruark's three-yard plunge, culminating a 40-yard drive.

Glenn scored late in the first quarter, with 4:42 remaining, on a pass from quarterback Bill Lee to Mark Grabowski which covered five yards.

Grabowski, who had his problems with the conversions, made only one of four attempts skids on to the three-game losing streak Friday night at the expense of undefeated Westland John Glenn. The two will clash at the Rocket stadium 8 p.m.

Truman struck first as it drove 67-yards in 11 plays and scored on a 30-yard pass from quarterback Jeff Gendron to Ray Broderick. Jim Deliz kicked the extra point and with 6:46 on the clock Truman had a 7-0 lead.

Wayne 14th at state finals

Harriers claim regional, league titles

BY TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

First in the Great Lakes 8 Conference, first in the Trenton regional and 14th in the state of Michigan - that's Wayne Memorial's cross country team.

And with six underclassmen stocking next year's squad, Coach Doug Garrett is eagerly waiting for the 1977 campaign...and the season ended only last Saturday.

"We were a bit young to compete in the level of state competition," said Garrett. "However, I have six of my runners back next year and I'm really looking forward to 1977."

Wayne will be losing Kevin Miller, a big loss for the Zebras. Miller became an All-Stater Saturday when he finished seventh at the Class A state finals held in Grand Rapids on the Indian Trails Golf Course.

The Wayne senior covered the three-miles in 15:25. Earlier in the month, Kevin placed second at the regionals staged at Trenton, a regional which went to the Zebra runners.

Perennial state power Grosse Pointe North captured the Class A state title, garnering 116 points. The state champs finished ahead of runners-up Grand Blanc (130) and Jackson (148), their nearest challengers.

Wayne had 349 points, good enough for 14th in the state. Rick Blaha gave the Zebras a 23rd place while Ron Mason ran 75th and Tim Quaintance and Paul Spencer hit the wire 120 and 123, respectively.

At the Trenton regional, Wayne's arch-rival, Fordson, was breathing down the Zebras' necks. Wayne's winning total, 72, was five points better than Fordson's. Adrian finished third with a 102 team total.

Along with Miller's second place at the regionals, Blaha placed fourth and Mason was seventh, followed by Quaintance (25) and Spencer (34).

Wayne finished the 1976 conference campaign with a perfect 7-0 record. The Zebras were 12-1 in the year, their lone loss sustained from Dearborn Heights Crestwood, 27-28.

Salem wins swim title

Sweeping six out of a possible 11 first places, Plymouth Salem retained the Second Annual Women's Western Wayne Aquatics Swimming & Diving Championships.

It was "no contest" for Coach Chuck Olson's girls who piled up 274 points to outdistance their closest rival, Livonia Churchill, by more than 82 points.

John Glenn, which shared with Salem the inaugural title, fell to fifth in the 10-team field while Wayne Memorial was fourth and Belleville was tied with Plymouth Canton for sixth.

The swimmers set records in nine of the 11 events.

Ex-All-Area harrier key to Charger win

John Yurchis, an All-Area cross country and track selection, led Hillsdale College to its inaugural Athletic Conference championship recently. Yurchis is a senior who also is the team's tri-captain and No. 1 runner. John and his parents reside at 36053 John Road in Wayne.

EMU honors 2 ex-area gridders

Two former area prep football stars were honored by the Eastern Michigan University football staff for their performances in the Kent State game.

The Hurons emerged losers, 38-13, in that Mid-American Conference game.

Bob Suarez, a standout at Livonia Franklin and James Hall, a former Robichaud All-Area performer, were the recipients of the honors.

Hall was selected as the kick team player of the week. The 5-8 junior returned five kickoffs for 114 yards. Suarez was named the defensive player of the week.

Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference cross country championship last week.

Yurchis, a Wayne resident who was graduated from Garden City East High, turned in a stunning 25:45 for the five-mile layout at Oakland University. He placed first.

Yurchis' teammates finished third, fifth, eighth and 11th to clinch the team title with 28 points.

Wayne State University's contingent was the runner-up with 46 team points while four-time GLIAC champ, Ferris State, finished in third place with 56 points.

Yurchis is a senior and was named as the Chargers' tri-captain earlier in the campaign. He is also ranked as the team's No. 1 runner for the nationally sixth-ranked Hillsdale team.

In 1974, Yurchis was named to the All-American squad and his he'll have a big challenge ahead of him this week when the Chargers run in the NAIA District 23 tournament at Ferris State.

John and his parents live at 36033 John R. in Wayne.

Sandwiched between two Edsel Ford defenders, Belleville's Rich Dapsi (44) manages to haul in this pass from quarterback Tom Laine which provided the key to the Tigers' lone touchdown in a 28-6 loss to the visiting T-Birds Friday night. Six fumbles killed Belleville's chances of ending an 18-year football championship title drought as the Tigers finished with a 5-2 league record, the best in the school's history.

Wayne continues Great Lakes skid

Wayne came right back after the ensuing kickoff and scored the tying touchdown. Quarterback Pat Bledsoe masterminded a 36-yard, seven play drive which was capped by Tim Clark's 15-yard touchdown run.

The two rivals exchanged second quarter touchdowns as Truman took the lead early in the period on Deliz' eight-yard run, set up by a Wayne fumble at the 18. Deliz also converted.

Wayne drove right back, covering 66-yards in 10 plays to score on Bledsoe's one-yard quarterback sneak. Paz connected for the point-after and the two teams were forced to settle for a 14-all halftime.

Truman came back after intermission to cash in on two third quarter Wayne mistakes for touchdowns. Deliz got one of those on a one-yard run and Gendron raced 15-yards for the second TD.

Deliz rounded out an excellent night with a two-yard touchdown plunge in the final quarter.

Truman controlled the game most of the night as the visitors had the ball for 65 plays as compared to Wayne's 44.

Clark was the main thrust of the Wayne offense as he generated 134 of the Zebras' 161 rushing yards, carrying the ball 13 times for 10.3 yards per attempt.

Ed Leverenz, Mike Plungis, Bob Lusk and Chris Eberhart were Wayne's leaders on defense.

Huron '11' bows in overtime

Each football victory is a big one at New Boston Huron where fans can count on one hand the number of wins the Chiefs have had in the past five years.

"I felt we were going to take this one," said Huron's Tom Labeau after his team's crushing 6-0 defeat to Airport in overtime. "Guess it wasn't in the books."

Airport won the toss in the overtime and elected to go on offense. On a third down and nine situation, quarterback Tim Duffy hooked up with Wally Malone for the decisive touchdown.

Greg Smith was Huron's top ground-gainer, picking up 86, while Mark Beattie, inserted in to handle tight end after Curt Schultz became ill, also turned in a fine performance.

The Chiefs have a good opportunity to end the 1976 campaign on a winning note. They'll take on Woodhaven Friday night and Woodhaven also is sporting a 1-7 won-lost record.

Regional and league champs

Defeated only once in dual meet competition, Wayne Memorial's young cross country team captured both the Great Lakes 8 Conference and the regional championships this season. Coach Doug Garrett's Zebras also finished 14th in state-wide class A competition held last Saturday the go-ahead point when its kick was blocked.

Jeff Preston scored early in the third quarter on a 20-yard run and Mike Holton capped a 40-yard sustained drive with a one-yard TD plunge for Glenn's two scores in that frame.

Glenn's formidable defense held Berkley to 10-yards and a mere two first downs while the Westlanders picked up 15 first downs and 300 yards total. Lee, who carried 11 times, had 56 yards while Preston had 46 on 10 attempts.

Sparks to host Spokes

If you don't think wheelchairs have any place on a basketball court, you haven't seen the Sparks.

The Sparks, an internationally-known cage team made up of handicapped players, will clash with the Springfield Spokes on Nov. 27 at 8 p.m. at Wayne Memorial High.

The Sparks have two local cagers in their lineup - Bud Rumble and Denver Braun.

Tickets for the game are $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for students.

Wayne to stage marathon

The Wayne Memorial cross country team will attempt to get a financial boost from its fans when the Zebras stage their annual 26-mile marathon run.

Pledges for the Sat., Nov. 13 run are being accepted by the harriers or Coach Doug Garrett.

The course for the run will cover Pontiac Trail and Seven Mile Road to Edward Hines and Ford Road.

Further information about the marathon run may be obtained by telephoning Coach Garrett at the high school (PA 1-2660).

Quinn out for season

Dan Quinn, a former All-Area gridder from Livonia Franklin, has been ruled out for the remainder of the football season because of stretched ligaments in his right knee. The Wayne State University sophomore slotback has started most of this season.

Coach Dick Lowry and Trainer Bob White confirmed the injury and said that Quinn's leg is in a cast and he'll be on crutches.

Quinn's replacement will be senior Mike Eggleston of Tecumseh.

"Merit Delivers More Taste Than Higher Tar Cigarettes."

—American Institute of Consumer Opinion

Extensive taste testing shows Merit delivers flavor of cigarettes having 60% more tar.

The bottom line was conclusive:

In a series of taste tests conducted for MERIT by the American Institute of Consumer Opinion,* smokers from across the country judged MERIT to have more flavor than five leading low tar cigarette brands.

What's really startling—and of major importance to all smokers—is that MERIT has less tar than these five brands.

Time for decisions

Looking over the field is Livonia Churchill's head football Coach Ken Kaestner who had his share of headaches this season. The Chargers fell from first place in 1975 to fifth in the Western Six Conference this season. But, Kaestner and his Chargers could make a year out of it if they can upset visiting Livonia Stevenson on Friday. Stevenson has one hand on the post-season playoff berth and will bring a perfect 8-0 record to the Chargers' stadium.

Canton upsets GC East, 13-0

Chiefs snap 5-game losing streak

Plymouth Canton, struggling through a winless Western Six Conference football season, took its frustrations out of non-conference rival, Garden City East, last week. Coach Dave Schuele's Chiefs stunned the Panthers 13-0 to snap a five-game losing streak.

"We finally put one together," said Schuele. "We played near flawless defense and a Woody Hayes' offense. We didn't really try to throw the ball."

Canton scored in the first quarter on Jerry Simon's one-yard plunge which was set up on another Simon run of 17-yards. The TD capped a 50-yard drive.

Brent Eckler converted, giving the Chiefs a 7-0 edge that proved enough to win the game.

Canton scored an insurance touchdown in the third quarter, this time on Tom Powell's 25-yard run.

Powell pulled off the score on a fourth down and inches to go situation. Eckler failed to get his second conversion of the game.

East came back in the last minutes of the fourth quarter and advanced to the Canton 17-yard line as time ran out on the Panthers.

Simon led the Chiefs' ballcarriers with 164-yards in 23 attempts while Mark Hutton had 28 in six tries.

Matt Norris and Mike Nyhus provided the blocking for Canton with Scotty Caldwell getting the job done in the backfield. Nyhus, Caldwell, Tom Powell and Mark Perkins stood out on defense.

Canton had an overwhelming edge in the statistics as the Chiefs piled up 11 first downs to East's five and amassed 216 yards to the Panthers' 64 passing and 25-yard rushing game. Roger Macintosh stole one East interception, a desperation shot picked off at the one-yard line.

Canton's hopes for the extension of that victory string will have to come at the expense of Dearborn, the newly-crowned Suburban 8 Conference co-champs. Dearborn has a 7-1 win-loss record.

"They're awesome," said Schuele, commenting on Dearborn's power. "They have size, are mobile inside and out - great speed and we're going to have to play a super ball game to stay on the same field with them."

Franklin's defense shuts off arch-rival, Churchill

Livonia Franklin may not be the power it was a year ago when it won the Class A state football championship, but Coach Armond Vigna's Patriots must have looked equally formidable to cross-town rival, Churchill, last Saturday.

Vigna's defense blanked Churchill as Franklin won 12-0 to pad its overall record to 5-3 on the season.

"The defenses dominated the game," said Vigna who has another city rival to contend with at Bentley Friday night. "Neither team's offense looked very sharp, but we got the breaks and capitalized on them."

One of those breaks Vigna referred to was the fumble recovery of a Churchill "fair catch." Franklin got the ball in the second quarter at the Charger one and Phil Yuhasz scored his second touchdown of the game from the three.

That TD was set up by Ron Reeter's recovery.

Earlier in the second quarter, Yuhasz scored on a 43-yard punt return to stake the Patriots to a 6-0 lead. Ken Scarpace's attempt for the extra point was blocked. After the second touchdown, Franklin went for two-point conversion and quarterback Dave Wilson's run was short.

Franklin had a couple of other serious threats wiped out in the first period when they strung together a 11-play drive to the Churchill 20-yard line, then handed the ball over on downs.

Churchill's furthest penetration was to the Franklin three-yard line where the game ended.

Each team had eight first downs but the Patriots had the edge in total yardage 116 to 58. Franklin picked off two Ron Nutter passes, one going to Paul Tietrack, the other to Acton in the second quarter.

Both teams also have tough assignments Friday. Churchill will host undefeated Livonia Stevenson which still has a shot at the post-season playoffs, while Franklin heads for Bentley.

Bentley has always been a thorn in Franklin's side. Last year the Bulldogs were not scared off by Franklin's awesome power, playing into an overtime before losing.

"They (Bentley) always spell trouble for us," Vigna said. "Records just don't mean much - it's a hard fought game because of the natural rivalry."

Bentley will sport a 2-6 record going into the season's finale for both schools.

Spartans fail to get offense off the ground

There may be little to smile about at Cherry Hill these days, but Coach Jerry Pawloski feels that the future will be bright.

"We're losing, sure," said the Spartan football mentor after his team dropped its sixth Tri-River Conference decision in seven starts, "but we have most of these kids back next year when I think we're going to be contenders."

Cherry Hill wrapped up the league phase of the 1976 campaign with a 1-6 record, good for a share of seventh place. Also nested in that spot is Dearborn Heights Riverside.

The Spartans wind down the year Friday night at Clarenceville, a team that Pawloski labelled as "explosive."

"I feel they have one of the finest running backs in the area," he said, "and that's the guy we're going to have to contain to win. Also, we're going to have to generate some offense, something we haven't done in the past couple of games."

Pawloski pointed out that his team's offense "had been regressing instead of progressing."

Cherry Hill took a 6-0 first quarter lead over Schafer last Friday when Scott Grindling scooped up an errant Schafer ball and raced 60-yards for a touchdown.

Schafer moved all over the field in the first half but wasn't able to get the equalizer until midway in the second quarter. Then the hosts put 13 points on the board to go-ahead for good. They scored 16 points in the last 12 minutes of the game.

"We had several breaks but, except for Grindling's TD, didn't cash in on them," Pawloski noted. "Schafer fumbled six times and we recovered all six and didn't do anything with them."

Grindling had two of those recoveries while one each went to John Sweet, Mark Dalberg, Carl Rice and Rick Searcy.

Cherry Hill went into the game without the vital services of veterans Pat Pudelek and Jim Steudle, both on the sidelines with injuries.

Pudelek may be back in the lineup for Friday night's game.

Schafer's defense held the Spartans to 51 yards on the ground and 12 yards passing, "and you're not going to win many ball games like that," Pawloski stressed.

Schoolcraft to host gals' volleyball tournament

Schoolcraft College will host the National Junior College Athletic Association (NJCAA) second annual Region XII women's volleyball tournament on November 12 and 13.

According to tournament director Mike O'Toole, this year's competition reflects growing interest in women's volleyball. Twelve teams will be competing for two spots in the national tournament scheduled over Thanksgiving in Catonsville, Maryland.

This represents twice the number of teams who competed last year and greater competition is expected.

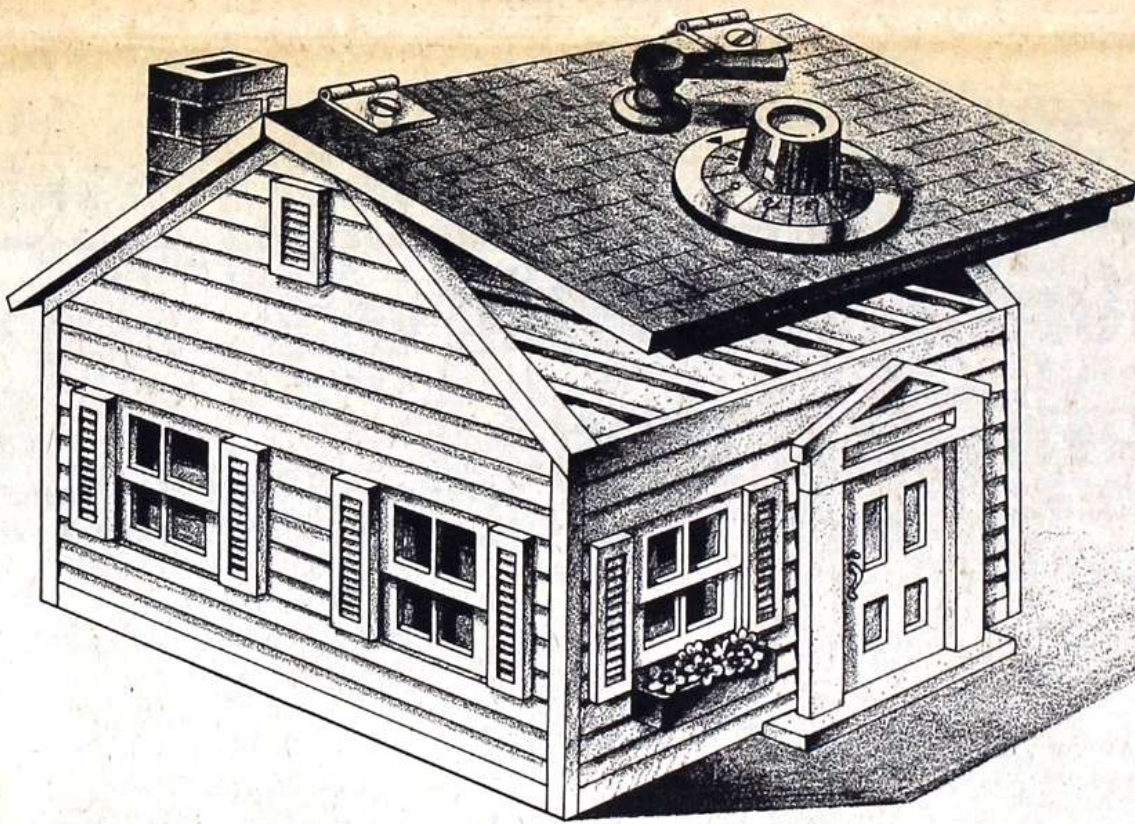

Jackson Community College, last year's defending regional champion, will be on hand to seek a second consecutive title. This year's favorite, however, is Kellogg Community College. Other teams in contention will be Lake Michigan College, Southwest Michigan College and host Schoolcraft College.

Seeding rounds will begin at 11 a.m. on Friday, November 12. The remaining top eight teams will begin single elimination play at 10 a.m. on Saturday. Quarter-finals are scheduled at 10 and 11:30 a.m. that day. Semi-finals will be at 3 and 4:30 p.m. with the consolation round and finals planned for 6:30 and 8 p.m. respectively.

Tournament officials invite local volleyball enthusiasts to attend the competition. Admission for students is $.75 and adults pay $1. Further information may be obtained by calling the College's athletic department at 591-6400, extension 403. The College is located at 18600 Haggerty Road in Livonia.

Save up to $75 in your attic this winter.

Insulate!

Nobody likes higher Gas bills, including us at Michigan Consolidated. But because the cost of Gas we buy from our suppliers has gone up, your Gas bills will be higher this winter than they were last year.

So it makes sense to stretch each dollar's worth of Gas just as far as possible, and to keep your Gas bills as low as you can. One way to do this is by insulating your home.

Once again, Michigan Consolidated is offering a low-cost Home Ceiling Insulation Program designed to conserve Natural Gas and save you money.

Since the program's introduction nearly three years ago, more than 115,000 of our customers have installed ceiling insulation, and have cut their home heating costs by as much as 17% each year. Based on expected Gas prices for this winter, this means a customer who has not yet insulated may be able to reduce his annual heating cost by as much as $75, starting immediately.

If you do the job yourself, you should be able to buy insulation for a home with 650 sq. ft. of attic space for about $125.00. That means you'll probably save enough Gas to pay for the material in less than two years. Our free Do-It-Yourself Insulation Handbook tells you how. Pick one up at any of our customer business offices or any participating retail outlet. Or call or write, and we'll mail you a copy.

If you'd rather not do the job yourself, one of our participating insulation subcontractors can. The cost? About $250.00 for homes with less than 1000 sq. ft. of ceiling area. You can pay cash. You can pay 20% down and pay the balance without interest over your next three Gas bills. Or you can make extended payments at an interest rate of 1% per month on the unpaid balance (ANNUAL PERCENTAGE RATE OF 12%).

So why not save money in your attic this winter with our low-cost Home Ceiling Insulation Program? We'd like to help you cut your heating costs, and we'll both be working to save our country's valuable Natural Gas supplies.

We do care about your tomorrow.
